

Instead of weakening the rights of citizens, the federal government should be actively protecting them. Markets should aspire to be built upon the highest of standards not the most base needs. We do not want these intrusions and we have said so. It would be a terrible disservice to the residents of New Jersey and the nation as a whole who have spoken resoundingly against this self-serving intrusive marketing tactic. We want peace in our homes not harassment by unwanted visitors who we have already asked to leave.
